Many Counties Exhibit

Twenty sections in Wisconsin are represented in a feature display of certified seed potatoes which occupies a prominent position in the center of the big armory building at the fair grounds. The exhibit is representative of 450,000 bushels of certified seed stock. Barron county is the biggest contributor to this booth, sending show potatoes selected from 50 growers. Other counties having heavy displays in this feature booth are Oneida, Vilas, Forest, Shawano, Washburn, Price, Waupaca and Portage.

At noon today more than 20 Wisconsin counties had choice potatoes on display at the state show, having entered them in competitive exhibits. The counties represented are as follows: Washburn, Barron, Bayfield, Sawyer, Chippewa, Price, Taylor, Oneida, Vilas, Forest, Langlade, Florence, Marinette, Oconto, Door, Brown, Shawano, Portage, Waupaca and Wood.

Urges Attendance Of Boys and Girls At the Potato Show

School clerks and teachers in Portage county schools are urged to arrange for the attendance of the school children of the county at the state potato show here, in a letter sent out to them by Miss Alice M. Gordon, county superintendent.

In Miss Gordon's letter she comments upon the importance of the convention from an educational stand. Her message to clerks and teachers follows:

As you know, the state potato show is held at Stevens Point this week. Several officers of local potato associations, who are school board members as well, have suggested that it might prove educational and beneficial to pupils in the rural schools to attend this show. I heartily agree to this suggestion, for our state course of study instructs us to make the teaching of agriculture as practical as possible. Certainly, nothing more practical in teaching the potato industry could be given, than the impressions they will receive from viewing the exhibits and listening to experts discuss the subject.

If teachers will cooperate with the school boards and accompany their pupils to the show, they may well count this a day taught, providing the school boards so desire.

I would not make this suggestion, did I not feel that this is really an opportunity for our boys and girls to see the best potato exhibits in the state.

W. W. Clark states the most interesting talks for the pupils will be given on Thursday.

INJURED BY MACHINE WORKMAN IN HOSPITAL

Prompt Action of James Duggan Saves Fellow Companion From Fatal Death

Floyd Negley, an employee of the Cast Stone Construction company, was painfully injured Tuesday when his sweater became caught in a moving cog wheel. He was pulled to the ground by a fellow workman before he might have been seriously, if not fatally injured.

Negley was a patient at St. Michael's hospital Tuesday, with the muscles on his chest torn from their fastenings on his ribs and his chest otherwise bruised. It is not expected that his injuries will prove serious.

He was working near a derrick used by the construction company in work in Stevens Point this summer, which was being moved on Monroe street near the Railway Materials company, preparatory to being placed on a freight car for shipment from the city.

A sweater, with a shawl collar which he was wearing, became caught about the neck in a large cogwheel. As the wheel was moving Negley was being gradually lifted into the air, toward the top of the machine, where his skull might have been crushed or his neck broken, when James Duggan, a fellow worker, grasped his heels and pulled him to the ground, tearing the sweater from his shoulders, and leaving part of it still in the machinery, which was being stopped as Negley's plight became known to the operator.

George Childs, superintendent for the Cast Stone company, was slightly injured on one leg and hand last Saturday afternoon when a pulley on a counter shaft broke at the water plant site near the Big Plover river. Pieces of the pulley flew in all directions, endangering several others who stood nearby.

We often think the old gray matter ain't what she used to be.

Feature Portage County

Another feature on the convention floor is the Central Wisconsin Rural Potato Belt exhibit, a display of tubers grown in Portage and Waupaca counties. They are being exhibited jointly by these two counties.

Guests visiting the state show today included E. J. Fredericks of Long Island, N. Y., who came to Stevens Point especially to purchase seed stock. He has already purchased several cars of Wisconsin seed for Long Island growers, who use largely the Irish Cobbler and the Green Mountain varieties. One hundred cars of seed stock are purchased yearly for them. They formerly bought in the state of Maine but are now turning to Wisconsin and its potato belt.

Judging on Wednesday

Judging of potato exhibits entered in the competitive class will take place on Wednesday. The judges are C. M. Tompkins of Colorado, J. W. Brann of the Wisconsin experiment station, and William Stuart of the United States department of agriculture, who will act as an advisory judge.

ALL BUILDINGS ON HULL FARM PREY OF FIRE

House, Furniture, Barns, Hay, Reduced To Ashes By Flames

Complete destruction by fire late Thursday afternoon and early Friday morning, of the house, furniture, barns and outbuildings on the farm of Anton Orlos in the town of Hull six miles from Stevens Point left Orlos and his family without a roof to cover themselves.

The fire started in the house, from a spark from the chimney. Orlos and his wife attempted to put the blaze out, but it spread so rapidly that they were unable even to save the furniture in their home.

Spreads to Barns
The fire spread to two barns near the house, and a chicken coop. The barns were quickly enveloped in flames and little could be done to prevent the blaze by neighbors who were called to help. The Orlos farm is some distance away from neighbors, which accounts for the fact that aid did not come sooner.

Twenty tons of hay in the barn, together with a quantity of grain, was also burned. Fifty chickens in the chicken coop were the prey of the fire.

Three horses and six cows in the barns were taken from the buildings before the fire gained great headway. The fire burned all through the night, and was still moldering in the ashes of the buildings this morning.

Orlos and his wife and five children spent the night at the home of a neighbor.

The loss was fully covered by insurance with the G. W. Hein agency of Stevens Point.

MAYOR STARTS ACTION FOR HARD COAL HERE

State Committee Gives Assurances of Shipments to Stevens Point

Immediately

Pleas of local coal dealers that hard coal shipments to the city were not coming as fast as they should to supply the demands of people in Stevens Point who have hard coal stoves and must have this kind of fuel, has resulted in action by the Wisconsin State Coal committee upon request of Mayor John N. Welsby.

Promises have been made to Mayor John N. Welsby that shipments of hard coal will be made to Stevens Point by operators to prevent suffering from cold here.

The situation resulted in a survey of hard coal here. All coal dealers reported that although they had orders in for hard coal for some time, no shipments of sufficient coal to supply demands had been received.

A letter to the mayor from P. H. Pressentin, secretary of the Wisconsin state coal committee, states that the coal companies there had given the committee assurances of shipment to Stevens Point immediately.

In response to the letter from the state committee, Mayor Welsby has sent the following:

"Your letter of October 25 at hand with reference to the hard coal situation in Stevens Point, Wis. Short age of hard coal here is serious account people equipped with hard coal burners are not financially able to purchase soft coal stoves. You may rest assured, that anything you can do to relieve us by getting some hard coal shipped into our city will be greatly appreciated by the people. I have taken up the matter with all the coal dealers here, and in each case you will find they have not been getting the amount they should in order to supply each consumer with at least a part of his order."

"Attached you will find statement from each dealer showing what he has ordered and received to date. This information, I am sure will have you get some hard coal started for Stevens Point."

"THE CITY WORTH WHILE"

The letter was written by the firm of Schott, manufacturers of wall pockets and calendar novelties.

OVER HALF CENTURY IN RAILROAD SERVICE

Conductor W. I. Bush Retires With Arrival of Soo Train Here

Continuous service of 52 years in railroad work ended for W. I. Bush on Monday noon of this week, when Soo line train No. 11 arrived here on the run from Milwaukee. Rules of the company provide that when an employee reaches the age of 70 years he must retire from active service, with the monthly pension privilege put into effect some years ago.

At the age of 18 Mr. Bush began his life's work with the Michigan Central railroad and remained in its employ until coming to the Wisconsin Central some 30 years ago. After brief service as brakeman he was promoted to conductor and during the past 18 years had been in charge of passenger trains No. 11 and 12 between Stevens Point and Milwaukee.

During this period of more than half a century Mr. Bush was never in a serious accident and unlike many other trainmen, retains his fingers intact.

He and Mrs. Bush have a comfortable home at 108 Jefferson street and they hope to occupy it together for at least 25 years more. Their three sons, Arthur, Lawrence and Leslie, live at Fond du Lac and they hope to make frequent short visits in that city. Next week Mr. and Mrs. Bush leave for Michigan, to spend several days among familiar scenes.

Frank G. Webb, for the past year or more conductor on the Portage branch passenger run, succeeds Mr. Bush on the main line. These latter duties are familiar to Mr. Webb as he had charge of a Milwaukee train for several years before succeeding Conductor William Hogan on the Stevens Point-Portage line. It may be a week or more before a permanent assignment is made for the position just vacated by Mr. Webb.

FIGHT RENEWED FOR TRAINING SCHOOL HERE

Legislature Again to be Asked to Appropriate $300,000 for the Normal

The $300,000 asked by the board of normal regents for a new building in Stevens Point, included in the regents' budget of $5,000,000 which was approved at Madison Monday, means a renewal of the fight for a new training school building here.

The board of normal regents two years ago approved of a proposed expenditure of that amount for an identical purpose, but the request was rejected by the state legislature. Stevens Point is now again seeking this appropriation.

Long Gauntlet to Run

There will be a long gauntlet to run if the regents and the Normal school here are successful this time. Approval of the building project by the regents is but the first step. The budget, including the $300,000 asked for this city, goes to the state board of education next. If successful there it is passed on to the state board of public affairs, then to the joint finance committee of the legislature and finally to the legislature itself.

Need of the new building is declared by President John F. Sims of this city to be greater now than it was two years ago, due to larger enrollment and lack of building facilities in which to expand. With the construction of a new training school building on the school's campus here, the training department, of which Prof. A. J. Herrick is director, would be housed under a separate roof. This would make available its present quarters in the Normal building for other school work.

Determined to Win

President Sims in an interview this morning indicated his attitude and that of the regents in their efforts to get the appropriation when he said: "which begins with 'If at once you don't succeed'." The Normal executives are prepared to show the legislature and the committees having power to approve or reject the request, the necessity of the new building for the Normal school here at this time.

Five New Teachers

Announcement by the regents at Madison on Monday of the increased teaching staff needed for the nine normals listed only one new position for the state school here. The regents, however, approved of seven new positions here, five of them regular faculty positions. They are as follows: Assistant in physical training, assistant in home economics, assistant in geography and science, assistant supervisor of practice, teacher for art and music in the training school, assistant librarian and one additional clerk.

OBITUARY

Garth C. Jensen

The death of Garth C. Jensen at his home, 517 Ellis street, Thursday afternoon, removed from earth one of Stevens Point's progressive young business men and an esteemed member of the community. Mr. Jensen's passing away was peculiarly sad, coming as it did through a fatal error in taking two bi-chloride of mercury tablets which he mistook for cough medicine. He arose at an early hour on Saturday, October 14, and walked to the drug store for the purpose of securing some tablets to relieve a cough which had troubled him at intervals during the night. In a bottle nearby were two poisonous discs, which Mr. Jensen hastily swallowed and then returned to bed and fell asleep. Morning an hour later he became sick and medical aid was summoned. By this time the poison had permeated his system, his kidneys becoming especially effected. Early this week there seemed to be a change for the better and hopes were entertained for his recovery, but since Tuesday he had been in a semi-conscious condition and failed rapidly during the following two days. Garth Jensen was the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jensen and was born in this city January 1, 1886, making him in the 37th year of his age. He attended the local schools until a sophomore year, then going to Chicago where he was engaged in the mercantile business a couple of years. Returning to Stevens Point where the Auto Sales company was organized here in 1912, he became manager and continued as such until its recent sale to Harry Fischer and associates. During the past few weeks Mr. Jensen had been settling up the company's affairs and was about to take charge of a department at the Frost Tackling Tackle factory on Ellis street when he became ill. Mr. Jensen was married three years ago to Miss Verona Glinzki and they are the parents of a son, Joseph, now one and one-half years of age. The deceased is also survived by one brother, Dr. Gerald B. Jensen of this city.

Dr. W. H. Wilson

Making a desperate fight against the inroads of diabetes for several years, only to fall victim to acute pneumonia with which he became afflicted, October 22, was the fate of Dr. William H. Wilson, until a year ago associated with Dr. L. P. Pasternack in the practice of dentistry here. Dr. Wilson expired at 1:40 o'clock Thursday afternoon at his home on Strong's avenue. His fatal illness came upon him suddenly and unexpectedly, and because of his generally weakened condition it was believed from the outset that his chances for recovery were small.

W. H. Wilson was a native of Lake Mills, born there February 26, 1876, at the family moved to Fort Atkinson when he was 11 years old and he grew to young manhood there. Finishing the local schools he took up the study of dentistry and practiced his profession for 20 years. On December 27, 1900, he was married at Fort Atkinson to Miss Venice Westfeldt and almost immediately thereafter they located at Barry, Ill., remaining there three years. Dr. Wilson then moved his family to Stevens Point and with the exception of two periods of two years each, when they lived at Amherst and Fort Atkinson, had since been continuous residents of this city.

His health began to decline several years ago and on the advice of physicians he devoted more time to out-of-town pursuits, one of his investments being the Nelson Kollock farm in Alton, where he developed a herd of high grade and thoroughbred cattle. He also owned other property in Caron and for a time operated a city milk route. Classified as one of Stevens Point's best boosters, Dr. Wilson could always be depended upon to lend his material and personal aid to promote civic welfare.

Until compelled to retire from active duties in September, 1921, he was member of the dental firm of Drs. Pasternack & Wilson. Surviving members of his family are the widow, one son, Harry Wilson, and a daughter, Miss Jeannette Wilson, all at home. His father, J. L. Wilson, lives in the town of Caron, his mother, Mrs. Alexander Hunter, at Lake Mills, and one brother, Larry B. Wilson, resides in Milwaukee.

Funeral of Frank H. King

The largest funeral ever held in New London took place Saturday morning when the remains of the late Frank H. King, former Portage county resident, and his son, Donald, who were drowned in the Wolf river last Tuesday, were laid to rest. Business throughout the city was suspended for an hour and scores of people were able to enter the church which was filled to overflowing. The superintendent of the entire Borden interests of New York, and eleven managers of plants throughout the country in whom Mr. King met annually in New York, attended in a body. They came from points in Kansas, New York and Illinois and with the entire membership of the Rotary club, of which Mr. King was vice-president, and the Boy Scouts acted as guard of honor. So numerous and magnificent were the floral offerings that a large truck was needed to carry them. Relatives and friends from a dozen cities were in attendance. Prayers were said at the house by Rev. John McGinley of Manawa, cousin of Mrs. King, after which the bodies were taken to the church of the Most Precious Blood where solemn requiem high mass was celebrated by Father McGinley, assisted by Father John Kaster, of New London, and Father Kuhl and Father Letz. Father Kaster spoke eloquently of the virtues of the deceased and of the great power for good he had been to the community. During the services, "Crossing the Bar" was beautifully sung by an Appleton soloist.

Interment took place in the family lot in the parish cemetery beside Willie, the oldest child who died at the age of 12 years, and two other infant children. Insurance to be paid on the death of Mr. King will be among the largest payments in the state this year. Double indemnity in some of his policies payable in case of accidental death make the total insurance to be paid to Mrs. King $112,000.

Mrs. King will continue to reside in New London. Her mother, Mrs. Margaret Patterson of Almond, and Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Rogers, the latter a sister, will make their home with Mrs. King for the present.

Mrs. John Lundgrin

Mrs. John Lundgrin, for many years a resident of the town of Eau Claire, died suddenly at her home at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Heart failure was the cause of her sudden passing away.

She was married in Norway to Gilman Jurgenson, and together they came to the United States, living first at Stevens Point and later moving to Eau Claire. Mr. Jurgenson died in 1891. Mrs. Jurgenson was later married to John Lundgrin, who survives her.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at her late home in Eau Claire, and a few minutes later at the Lutheran church at Runkles, near Junction City. Burial followed in the Runkles cemetery. Rev. Theodore Ringo of Stevens Point officiated.

Rural Day Program

An interesting "Rural Day" program to which women from the surrounding rural districts were invited was given before the Women's club Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. E. J. Carley was chairman, assisted by Mrs. George Van Buskirk and Mrs. H. S. Card.

Miss Alice Gordon, county superintendent of schools, was the principal speaker, saying in part:

"One of the most important laws, from the standpoint of rural education, passed by the Wisconsin Legislature is the one providing that each county have at least one supervising teacher. In counties having one hundred and twenty-five schools, two supervising teachers may be appointed. I make this statement in considering the value to the rural boys and girls."

"Why have supervising teachers? Because we are continuing to move out of the old into a bigger, better kind of education for country boys and girls. Because duties and responsibilities centering in the county superintendent's office lay too great demands for any one person to meet unaided. Because many of the teachers in rural schools are young and inexperienced, and are looking for help."

"Under the activities of the supervising teacher we may include the following: School visitations (to individual schools, and directed observation, where several teachers visit a rural school with the supervising teacher and then have a conference); Saturday group meetings, county institutes, reading circle meetings, regional conferences of supervising teachers, state conferences called by the state department, fairs and exhibits, community work, county contests, preparing suggestions for seat work, outlines of subject matter to supplement manual, examination of text books, visits to rural training courses, standard tests, checking over teachers' lesson plans, making of charts, graphs, posters, over age studies, and any other work the county superintendent may direct."

"A rural course graduate has her mind filled with rosy visions of all the things she will do when she begins teaching. When she comes into the schoolroom, she faces grim realities, and her dreams are shattered. She becomes discouraged and the pupils do not receive a square deal. If at this time, she may have the assistance of the supervising teacher, she may recover her enthusiasm and prove successful."

"Many districts in Wisconsin are operating one room rural schools with enrollments of three to fifteen pupils. In the school year of 1921-22 six schools in Portage county had a daily average attendance of less than eleven pupils. With larger enrollments, the cost in maintaining these schools would have been practically the same. It is difficult for any teacher to arouse much interest in classes composed of one or two pupils. The solution of this problem in most instances is transportation to an adjoining school or adjoining district. The cost to the district would include tuition and the cost of transportation. The state gives aid for transportation."

"In 1921-22 the voters of Almond with an enrollment of 15 voted to close their one-room rural school and transport to the grades at Almond village. The clerk's report of Almond town in 1920-21 indicates total payments of $1,173.19 and in 1921-22 total payments of $495.29. The more important fact is, the parents feel their children are receiving better educational advantages in the graded school."

Violin selections were given by Miss Irene Hite, accompanied at the piano by Miss Hedwig Hein.

A reading from Ernest Poole, "The Slow Man," was interpreted by Mrs. C. F. Watson, she also responded to a second number.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The following ladies were hostesses: Mesdames F. M. Playman, J. A. Ennor, Chas. Cartmill, Robert Wilson and Miss Bertha Hussey.

NOTICE OF GENERAL ELECTION

Office of County Clerk, October 18th, 1922

TO THE ELECTORS OF PORTAGE COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given that a general election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages, and election precincts in the county of Portage, on the 7th day of November, 1922, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, together with the question submitted to a vote, in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

(A) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

(B) If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross or other mark under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by making a cross or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.

(C) A voter may vote upon a question submitted to a vote of the people by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the answer which he intends to give.

(D) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(E) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

(F) A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

(G) The following is a facsimile of the official ballot.

RUTH McCALLUM,
County Clerk.

SAMPLE OFFICIAL BALLOT

If you desire to vote an entire party ticket for state, congressional, legislative and county offices make a cross (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the ballot. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote if it be there, or write any name that you wish to vote for, in the proper place.

MARSHFIELD HUNTER SHOT WHILE IN WOODS

Gun in Hands of His Companion Accidentally Discharges After Being Loaded

Matthew Andraska, Marshfield, is in the hospital in that city suffering from two severe wounds received Sunday afternoon while rabbit hunting.

The accident occurred when a 12 gauge shot gun carried by Walter Wisbroecker accidentally discharged just after he had loaded it. The full charge of shot struck Andraska in the right hip and also lacerated his right arm.

His companions rushed him to the home of relatives, where first aid was given. He was later removed to the hospital, where an operation was performed.

RUDOLPH MAN EXPIRES

Hans Austrang of Rudolph died suddenly last Sunday after an illness of 10 months with cancer of the stomach. He had been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Evanson at Rudolph. He was 70 years of age. The funeral was held today at Wisconsin Rapids.

Florence Kubisiak Wins Potato Queen Honors In Contest

Advancing from second place in the final hours of the contest, Miss Florence Kubisiak of Arnott was given an avalanche of votes for potato queen and won easily, defeating Mrs. Edward Peltier of Stevens Point, who had held the lead for several days prior to Saturday.

Miss Kubisiak, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kubisiak of Arnott, and a sophomore in the high school here, polled 75,830 votes, compared with 45,950 for Mrs. Peltier. Miss Mabel Welker of Coddington, a Normal student, finished third in the contest with more than 5,000 votes.

The winning of potato queen honors by Miss Kubisiak eliminates criticism voiced in the Journal's "Public Opinion" columns that the victor should be one who comes from a farm and who has actually handled potatoes in the fields where they are harvested.

Miss Kubisiak, before coming to school in Stevens Point, lived in the country with her parents.

The queen received a cash prize of $25 and also had the honor of riding with Mayor J. N. Weisby at the head of the big potato parade this morning. The queen contest began a week ago and closed last Saturday evening.

AUTO AND TWO MEN PLUNGE INTO DITCH

Stockton Men, Blinded by Bright Lights, Meet With Accident on Main Street

Two Stockton men, Fred Miller and Charles Finnessy, had a narrow escape from serious injury late Sunday night when the Miller car, a Ford touring, was driven too close to the ditch on Main street near the fair grounds which has been dug for the new water mains, and tipped over into the excavation.

The car remained in the ditch Monday and was viewed by many local residents who passed in other cars or drove there to see it. According to its occupants, they were blinded by bright lights on an approaching car coming from the east and swung over to the right side of the road toward what they believed to be only a sand pile, at the same time slowing their machine down to 10 miles an hour.

The right hand wheels went over the side of the excavation and the car then turned sideways and dropped into the ditch, carrying both occupants along with it. Both men suffered slight cuts on their faces. It is believed that they escaped serious injuries because of the slowness with which the car was moving at the time. The windshield of the auto was broken, right fenders, the right side and two wheels damaged.

BELMONT NEWS

Pioneer district, Belmont, Oct. 30.—D. W. Sawyer is nearly through with the fall's farm work, as he has the corn shredders at present. When this is done he expects to move to Almond for the remainder of the school year.

Potato digging is all done in this locality except Robert Pommeranke, who will finish this week. As he had about forty acres he appreciates this splendid fall weather for harvesting, but wishes the price was more substantial.
